This is in reply to your letter of 26 July expressing an interest in becoming an intelligence agent.

The educational requirements for work in the field of intelligence are many and varied. We require experts in international relations, economics, languages, the various sciences, geographical areas, law, administration, etc. In whatever field of endeavor you finally decide upon for yourself, I can only suggest that you study hard and learn your subject thoroughly. This will always serve you well no matter what you may decide to do.

With every best wish for your future success in your school work.

Sincerely,
